(The effective date of the awards is given in brackets against the names)

1. No. 2943061 Sepoy BABU LAL, 17 Rajput Regiment (Posthumous) (10th September 1955).

On 10th September 1955, at 0330 hrs. 'B' Coy of 17 Rajput Regiment whilst employed in North East Frontier Agency in aid of the civil power led an attack on a hostile Naga stronghold at LHOSHEPU. When the Company was 200 yards from the hostile position, they came under heavy and accurate automatic and rifle fire and owing to a thick belt of punjis and ditches the advance was temporarily halted. Sepoy BABU LAL who was a member of the leading section of the forward platoon, volunteered to go forward and silence the Light Machine Gun enfilade which was the major obstacle. His advance lay over 40 yards of a heavily fire-swept area strewn with punjis and bunkers. He was hit twice in the lower limbs within the first 20 yards and had to drag himself to get into grenade-throwing distance under the full view of the hostiles. As he advanced further he was hit by a burst in the chest. But he had determination enough to lob a grenade at the hostile position, silencing it, before he breathed his last.

The supreme sacrifice of late 2943061 Sepoy BABU LAL is far beyond the call of ordinary duty. His action has certainly added a brilliant page to Rajput tradition.

2. No. 18161 Naik MUKHTIAR SINGH, 4 J. & K. Infantry (19th March 1956).

On the night of 18/19th March 1956, the position occupied by our troops on the Bela at HUSSAINI-WALA Headworks, near Ferozepore on the Indo-Pakistan Border was attacked. Approximately one platoon of attackers managed to secure a foothold on the Bela from the left flank. On being ordered by his platoon commander to take his section to the threatened flank and stem the advance, No. 18161 Naik MUKHTIAR SINGH personally led his section through heavy automatic fire. He inflicted two casualties on the attackers, captured their rifles and led his section upto the right Guide Bund and secured his objective.

Whilst his section was securing the objective on the Bund, a hand grenade landed near him in the midst of his section. In order to save his section, he lifted the grenade with his left hand and tried to throw it back on the attackers. The grenade exploded in the meantime and his left elbow was blown off. Though seriously wounded he continued to exhort his men to fight on and refused to be evacuated. No. 18161 Naik MUKHTIAR SINGH by his high example of personal leadership, courage and complete disregard for his personal safety averted a disaster to his section and to the BELA Position.

No. 5-Pres./57.—The President is pleased to approve the award of the ASHOKA CHAKRA, CLASS III, to the undermentioned personnel for acts of gallantry:—

(The effective date of the awards is given in brackets against the names)

1. No. 12049 Havildar MURLI RAM, 7 Grenadiers (19th February 1956).

On 19th February 1956 a strong patrol led by Capt. RANE whilst patrolling the Indo-Pakistan border suddenly came under heavy small arms fire from area CHHAD BET. Before the men could dismount from their camels, Sep. Pema Ram and two other men of No. 12049 Hav. MURLI RAM'S section were hit. A few minutes later the attackers' fire became heavy and sustained, and it became impossible for the point section to move without drawing accurate fire from a range of 150 yards. Completely scornful of the danger Hav. MURLI RAM encouraged his men to return the fire, as a result of which the attackers were hit by our fire. With scant regard for his personal safety he then crawled forward to evacuate his wounded comrade Sep. Pema Ram. As he approached near him he was hit on the chest near the left shoulder. He paid no heed and kept on dragging the wounded soldier until he was brought to safety.

This heroic action showed boldness, self-sacrifice and courage in the best traditions of our Army.

2. No. 15333 Sepoy JANAK SINGH, 4 J. & K. Infantry (19th March 1956).

On the night of 18/19th March 1956, the position occupied by our troops on the BELA at HUSSAINI-WALA Headworks, near Ferozepore on the Indo-Pakistan border was attacked.

Approximately one platoon of attackers managed to secure a foot-hold on the bela from the left flank, but was successfully thrown back whereupon the top of the Right Guide Bund was secured.

No. 15333 Sep. JANAK SINGH was No. 1 of the light machine-gun of his platoon. He got badly wounded in his right arm by a machine-gun burst at about 2140 hours, at which time, his was the only Gun in working order in his platoon. Though he was badly wounded, he crawled forward and managed to keep his gun in action and protected the most-threatened left flank of his Company from the direction of PIPAL post manned by the attackers. He continued firing for about 20 crucial minutes of the attack and this substantially changed the course of the engagement whereupon the attacking troops were forced to withdraw.

Sep. JANAK SINGH refused to be evacuated until 2300 hrs. when his Coy. Commander forced him to leave his post. By his action Sep. JANAK SINGH showed great courage, determination, presence of mind and devotion to duty of a high order in complete disregard of his personal safety.
